ORIENT x STI collaboration 2011 Limited Edition

ORIENT WATCH CO., LTD. was a proud sponsor of SUBARU TECNICA INTERNATIONAL INC (STI), which competed in the 39th ADAC Zurich 24-Hour Race (The Nürburgring 24-Hour Race) on June 23-26, 2011. STI won SP3T class in 24-Hour Race, finished 21st Overall. In commemoration of the STI's great success in finishing this extremely testing race, ORIENT WATCH CO., LTD. releases the ORIENT x STI collaboration Limited Edition watch in November 2011, this is the third model in the series produced in collaboration with STI.

The ORIENT x STI 2011 Limited Edition is the first model in the series to adopt the quartz movement, while embodying designs inspired by auto components produced in limited quantities, 5,000 pcs worldwide limited. (TT0Z001B : 2,500 pcs / TT0Z002B : 2,500 pcs)

Equipped with a chronograph feature, it incorporates many of the features of the SUBARU WRX STI, the basis of the vehicle that competed in the race. For example, the 1/20 second hand at the 12 o'clock position is inspired by the wheel or the turbo turbine in the actual car. When measuring the lap time, this disk hand rotates to gauge the time.
